Connections: The Quarterly Journal

Submission and Style Guidelines

Connections accepts manuscripts in the range of 2,000 to 5,000 words, written in a lucid style for a target audience of informed defense and security affairs practitioners and academics. All manuscripts should be submitted to the Connections editorial office electronically at PfPCpublications@marshallcenter.org. They should feature the author's name, current institutional affiliation, and a provisional title at the top of the first page, and should include footnotes where necessary.

Preferred themes for the 2009 publication year include:

- Security Sector Reform (SSR)
- Defense Education Reform
- Environmental and Energy Security
- Moral and Legal Challenges in the Security Arena
- Lessons Learned on Interoperability
- Stakeholder Cooperation in SSR
- Kosovo in Question
- Integrity and Corruption in the Defense and Security Sectors
- Military Transformation
- Demographic Challenges
- Military Manpower Issues
- Russian Military Reform
- Growth of Eurasian Neo-Imperialism in 21st-Century Terrorism

For questions on footnotes and references, please refer to the Chicago Manual of Style, at www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide.html.

Unsolicited manuscripts are accepted on a rolling basis at the discretion of the PfPC Editorial Board.
